Hannah K. Wiens is an associate at Cunningham, Meyer, & Vedrine who focuses her practice on civil litigation with an emphasis on the defense of hospitals, physicians, and other healthcare providers against medical malpractice claims. Additionally, she represents clients in other general tort and commercial litigation work. Prior to joining the firm, Hannah worked at a prominent insurance defense firm where she defended hospitals, physicians, and long-term care facilities. Hannah received her J.D. from Loyola University Chicago where she earned specialized certificates in Trial Advocacy and Health Law. During law school, she was part of the Law Journal and served as a Judicial Extern to the Honorable Thomas R. Mulroy. Hannah is from the Kansas City area and obtained her B.S. in business from the University of Kansas where she graduated in three years, emphasizing her studies in business law. Hannah is admitted to practice in the State of Illinois and the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.
